Under data protection law, individuals have a right to be informed about how the school uses any personal data we hold about them. We comply with this right by providing 'privacy notices' (sometimes called 'fair processing notices') to individuals where we are processing their personal data.

This privacy notice explains how we collect, store and use personal data about individuals working with the school in a voluntary capacity, including governors and members.

Our data protection officer can be contacted via dpo@mountbatten.school

Individuals have a right to make a 'subject access request' (SAR) to gain access to personal information that the school holds about them.

If you make a subject access request, and if we do hold information about you, we will respond to requests for access to personal data, including CCTV footage, within one calendar month. This may be extended by a further two months for complex cases, in which case you will be notified within the first month.

You may also have the right for your personal information to be transmitted electronically to another organisation in certain circumstances.

If you would like to make a request, please contact our data protection officer.

Your other rights

Under data protection law, individuals have certain rights regarding how their personal data is used and kept safe. You have the right to:

- Object to the use of your personal data if it would cause, or is causing, damage or distress
- Prevent your data being used to send direct marketing

Right to Rectification: If you identify inaccurate data, we will respond to your request for correction within one month. This may be extended by a further two months for complex cases, in which case you will be notified within the first month.

Rights to Restrict Processing: you have the right to suppress the processing of your personal data. This allows the school to continue holding the data but prevents any further use of it while we consider requests for rectification or objections to processing.
